PEACE MEMORIAL HEAD ACCEPTS

Choice for Chairman of Commission to Erect Monster Peace Memorial on the Gettysburg Battlefield Announces his Acceptance.

Announcement of the acceptance of the presidency of the Gettysburg Peace Memorial Association by Col. Hilary A. Herbert, of Washington, former Secretary of the Navy and a distinguished Southern soldier, is made by Colonel Andrew Cowan, who says:

"Hilary A. Herbert, former Secretary of the Navy and a distinguished Southern soldier, Colonel of the Eighth Alabama Regiment, Confederate States of America, and a native of South Carolina, has accepted the presidency of the Gettysburg Peace Memorial Association. It was unanimously agreed at Chattanooga last month after the articles of association were adopted, with the names of sixty-eight founders, equally divided between U. C. V. and U. S. V., veterans of the War of 1861-65, that Hilary A. Herbert, LL. D., U. C. V., should be invited to accept the nomination for president of the association. Judge Eli Torrance, of Minnesota, and Gen. C. Irvine Walker, of South Carolina, were appointed to write the invitations and mail their letters simultaneously.

"The reply of Col. Herbert to Judge Torrance, accepting the nomination with pleasure, voices the sentiment of 'peace and good will,' which has been growing stronger as the memory of the great war crystallized into a common recognition that the war had been inevitable and that the soldiers of both North and South had firmly believed in the principles for which each side had fought and so that all were patriots, as it was given them to believe where their first allegiance belonged, either to the States or to the nation.

"The articles of association provide for two honorary presidents and also for one vice president from each State. It was unanimously agreed at Chattanooga that Gen. Chamberlain, U. S. V., of Maine, and Gen. E. MacIver Law, U. C. V., of Florida, should be invited, at the same time as Col. Herbert, to accept the nominations for honorary presidents. Gen. Chamberlain's acceptance was received by Judge Torrance September 27, and that of Gen. Law is doubtless on the way to Gen. Walker.

"Gen. Chamberlain, ex-Governor of Maine, distinguished soldier, Lieutenant Colonel of the Twentieth Maine Infantry at Gettysburg; made Brigadier General U. S. V. by Gen. Grant June 18, 1864, on the battlefield; author, educator and a former president of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, will give the association his enthusiastic support.

"Gen. E. MacIver Law, U. C. V., was Lieutenant Colonel of the Fourth Alabama Infantry, C. S. A., 1861; Brigadier General, 1862; Major General, 1865; a distinguished soldier, whose services were glorious, and a gentleman whose life since the war has been full of usefulness; professor of history and belles lettres like President Herbert, Gen. Law is a native of South Carolina. Gen. Law is deeply interested in the purpose of the association.

"Capt. George C. Norton, U. C. V., will be elected vice president for Kentucky, Maj. John H. Leathers has been appointed treasurer of the association."

FIRE COMPANY WILL GIVE $500

Membership of Local Fire Department Votes to Contribute Five Hundred Dollars towards New Automobile Engine.

That the Gettysburg Fire Company is thoroughly in earnest in its efforts to secure for the town an automobile fire engine was shown at their regularly monthly meeting Wednesday evening when the membership voted to pledge the company for the first $500 toward the purchase of the new apparatus.

This money is not to come out of any funds now on hand but is all to be raised by special efforts in the way of shows, fairs and other entertainments. The plan to take the sum out of the Relief Fund was not regarded with favor by the company and they decided, instead, to put their shoulders to the wheel and show that they are willing to work for the cause which they later expect to ask the people of the town to help along.

Early this fall the first of a series of home talent shows will be given for the benefit of the new apparatus fund. A committee of three will have charge of this work, Rufus H. Bushman being the chairman, and several good entertainments will be provided.

Of the two propositions now advanced, the purchase of an automobile chemical engine, or the automobile combined chemical and water engine the company is unanimously in favor of the latter. They argue that, while a chemical may put out incipient fires, the town would be at the mercy of a large blaze should it get a good start and the present steamer fail.

For the adequate protection of the steadily growing and rapidly expanding town they deem the combined apparatus a necessity, saying that the good points of a single chemical are embodied in the combined automobile apparatus while the great power and efficiency of a gasoline water pump is the valued additional asset of the more expensive truck.

The company agrees with members of council that the old Silsby engine should be kept on hand for use in case of emergency rather than that it should be turned in as part payment on the new engine. The outside figure available for "General Meade" would be $750 and, on account of its age and condition, it might bring only $500.

REWARD FOR COURTESY

Gold Watch in Appreciation of Small Favor.

A gold watch was the reward received by Brady Sefton for a courtesy shown a tourist who visited the battlefield several weeks ago. The visitor, W. O. Guyton, who is national secretary of the Yeoman of America, while being shaved in the Sefton barber shop expressed a desire to buy a picture that hung on the wall. Mr. Sefton informed him that the picture was valued as a gift and was not for sale but that he would have a photograph copy made and send one to his home. A few days after the photographs were sent to Mr. Guyton's home, in Aurora, Ill., he mailed to Brady Sefton a letter expressing his appreciation of the favor and a gold watch which the owner is now proudly exhibiting to his friends.

TWELVE CARS ARE DERAILED

And Gettysburg Visitors to the York Fair are Delayed Three Hours in Starting. Accident Occurs Near Gladhills.

Twelve coal cars were piled up on the Western Maryland between Gladhills and Jack's Mountain Station about six o'clock this morning and traffic was delayed for several hours. As a result Gettysburg people desiring to go the York Fair were put to great inconvenience and some of them elected to go by automobile rather than wait for the delayed train.

The accident was caused, it is said, by one of the cars jumping the track and taking eleven others with it. The cars were thrown about in great confusion and the track was damaged for many feet. A wrecking crew from Hagerstown was sent to the scene and worked the greater part of the day clearing up the wreckage.

The cars were part of one of the big Port Covington coal trains and, though of steel construction, were damaged considerably by the impact. The coal was strewn over the track and added to the difficulty in clearing up the wreck and opening the railroad for travel.

When news of the wreck reached here the special York Fair train was run up to the scene and the passengers from the train due here at 8:05 were transferred. The belated train arrived about 11 o'clock and the persons who were bent on going to York to attend the fair and who had not taken advantage of the local automobiles pressed into service, started on their way to the annual exhibition, with considerable less of the holiday spirit than they possessed when they first started station-wards.

PROTECT PARK DEER

Must not Shoot the Deer at Caledonia Park.

The Chambersburg and Gettysburg trolley company has a surveying corps running lines for that part of the Caledonia forest reserve which it has leased as a park. This is done because the park boundary lines have never been plainly established. It is the intention of the State Game Commission to declare Caledonia Park a reserve and this will prevent the hunter from shooting the tame deer in the park and will also tend to make travel there a bit safer.

Rangers in the Caledonia reserve discovered a fine doe lying dead on the brink of the Intake dam. Forester Conklin was notified and he at once directed that it be despatched to the Chambersburg hospital. Further examination showed the animal had been chased by dogs and partially devoured by them, whereupon it was concluded to bury the carcass.

Pursued by the ravenous curs the animal leaped the dam fence for safety but the dogs were able to reach it there. They tore the body badly and ate much of it. It was removed before there was any likelihood of water contamination.

The law gives no license to any dog following upon the track of a deer. He is a public nuisance and may be killed by any person when so seen, or later by a game officer. The owner of a dog pursuing a deer is liable to a penalty of $25 for each deer pursued and $50 for each deer killed. Double these fines are collectible after an owner of an offending dog has been notified.

LOCAL VETERANS PLAN TO ATTEND

Meeting of Grand Army Veterans of Southern Pennsylvania will See Many Local Veterans in Attendance. The Arrangements.

Many local veterans will attend the eleventh annual reunion of the Southern District, Grand Army Association, which will be held in Carlisle Wednesday, October 22. Members of the local post and other veterans in the vicinity are planning to go.

The Southern District includes the Grand Army representatives from six counties as follows: Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton, Perry and Juniata.

The address of welcome will be delivered by J. Webster Henderson, son of the first district commander. The response will be made by Theodore McAllister, of Gettysburg.

The meeting will be held in the Carlisle court house. A free dinner and supper will be served in the Post Room of Capt. Colwell Post No. 201.

All veterans will be met at Carlisle by Post 201 with a band and escorted to the court house.

Since the date of the last meeting taps have sounded, it will be reported, for another former district commander of the division. He is Philip Harman, of Mt. Holly.

All those who are able to attend are earnestly requested to be present by District Adjutant Milton A. Embick and District Commander John J. Faller, who have sent out notices for the meeting.

MRS. GEORGE A. SHEAFER

Mrs. Shearer Died at her Home after Brief Illness.

Mrs. George Shearer died at half past six o'clock Wednesday evening at her home on North Washington street aged 70 years, 6 months and 3 days. Mrs. Shearer had been ill for two weeks, the direct cause of her death being paralysis.

Her maiden name was Sarah Ann Holden and she was born in Franklin County. Both of her parents were natives of Ireland. She leaves her husband, George A. Shearer, three sons, George W. Shearer, Bruce Shearer and William Shearer. The latter was until recently a resident of Gettysburg but a week ago was promoted by the Western Maryland to a responsible position at Walbrook, near Baltimore. She also leaves two daughters, Mrs. A. Hornbuckle, of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Charles Assenheimer, of Philadelphia.

The funeral services will be held from her late home at ten o'clock Saturday morning. Interment will be made in Evergreen Cemetery. Both the services at the house and the interment will be private.

SHOWING A GRACEFUL PLAIDED TUNIC OF CHIFFON

Many gowns this season show the Japanese influence. It may be noticed in the dropped shoulders, the wide soft neck and the drapery on the skirt. At the moment it seems as if no dress were complete without some sort of tunic. Those of tulle and chiffon are favored and may be plaided or gathered with a hoop at the bottom on the order of the Poiret minaret, which is causing an unusual stir at the moment. 7990 is in figured crepe de chine, shouldered and tuniced in contrasting chiffon. A frill of the plaided chiffon comes above the wide satin girdle, giving a novel, pretty effect. To make 7990 in size 36 it requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. 8000 shows an attractive model for a girl's blouse dress. It may be developed in serge, a novelty fabric or a figured silk with good results. A dark serge or satin with the revers on blouse and skirt of white is most effective. To make in size 12 it requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. No. 7990—sizes 34 to 44. No. 8000—sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14. Each pattern 15 cents.

HE MURDERS THREE IN RELIGIOUS MANIA

Crazed Youth Shoots Friends and Batters Bodies.

Liverpool, Oct. 9.—In a fit of religious mania a youthful church worker here, William McDonald, killed three of his fellow church workers. He then committed suicide.

McDonald paid a round of visits to the residences of his colleagues in the church work and shot them down in turn and afterward battered their bodies with a bludgeon.

Apparently there were no witnesses of the series of tragedies. The empty revolver and the bludgeon were clasp in McDonald's hands when his body was discovered.

The four young people were active workers for a sect known as the "Church of Humanity." One of the victims was Miss Crompton, daughter of the late Rev. Henry Crompton, a former pastor of the "Church of Humanity." She was the leader of the "Liverpool Positivists" and was McDonald's religious tutor. It was in her room that the maniac committed suicide after killing his instructors.

HOLDS UP RESTAURANT

Bandit Cleans Out Cash Register in Wilmington at Point of Pistol.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 9.—A man, well dressed and aged about twenty-five years, after finishing a meal at Webb's restaurant, 104 West Tenth street, drew a revolver and compelled Bart Carter, a waiter, to empty the cash register.

While another man was eating his breakfast, with his back towards the desk, the robber dashed out of the place and got away.

Miss Frances Wilson, the cashier, who was just reporting for work, stood in the doorway unable to move as Carter emptied the cash register of its contents.

The cash register had $12 and some change in it, and of this the thief got all but 47 cents.

EMBEZZLED SON'S MONEY

Father Convicted of Squandering $15,000 Belonging to Minor Child.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Oct. 9.—Matthias Stehle, building association official of Altoona, was convicted in the Blair county court here on a charge of embezzling $15,000 belonging to his minor son, John H. Stehle.

The prosecutor was a bonding company, the surety on Stehle's bond as guardian for his son. The jury's verdict contained a recommendation for mercy.

Stehle confessed on the witness stand that he had squandered $75,000 of other people's money in real estate speculations.

MATTY BAFFLES MACK SLUGGERS

Giants Defeat Athletics 3 to 0 in Ten Innings.

IT WAS A PITCHING DUEL

Veteran Twirlers Were Supported by Wonderful Fielding Plays Until Final Inning, When Plank Blew Up.

WORLD'S BASE BALL SERIES.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Athletics.....	1	1	.500
New York.....	1	1	.500

First game, won by Athletics... 6 to 4

Second game, won by Giants... 3 to 0

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Christy Mathewson beat Eddie Plank in a ten inning pitching battle at Shibe Park in the second contest of the world's series. Score: New York, 3; Athletics, 0.

Mathewson practically won his own game when he hit one of Plank's shoots to center for a solid single in the tenth, scoring a man from second. An error by Eddie Collins and a single scored two more runs for the Giants, but they were not needed, as the Athletics failed to get a man on base in their half of the inning.

To most of the 20,563 enthusiasts inside the grounds it seemed as if the American league champions threw away an easy chance to win the game in the ninth inning by a display of poor tactics. Strunk, the first batter up, singled and Barry beat out a bunt and both advanced on Doyle's wild throw on the hit. With Strunk, steet of the Athletics, on third, Barry on second, it looked as if a long sacrifice fly would give Mack's team a sure run and victory.

Instead, Lapp shot a grounder to Witte and, the Giant's pitcher, who played a star game at first, cut down Amos at the plate by a sharp throw on a close play. Barry went to third, and still with but one out, Plank went to the bat and hit Witte, who again showed his skill with a throw to Catcher McLean, which nipped Barry.

For nine innings the two veteran pitchers, oldest in their respective leagues, matched will against will in a great pitching duel.

Six of the Giants were retired on strikes, Burns falling a victim of the portside delivery on three occasions. "Matty" fanned five.

The game was as unlike Tuesday's contest as it is possible for it to be. Tuesday's game was a slugging match. This contest was a pitching battle, in which two of the greatest masters of their craft matched their brawn and brain. Although the Athletics obtained eight hits and the New Yorkers one less, there was not an extra base drive during the game.

Matty pitched himself out of a tight hole in the first inning, after Murphy reached first on Doyle's error and Oldring's solid single to left. Collins advanced both with a sacrifice.

With men on second and third, one out and Baker at the bat, Mathewson tightened and fanned the Trappe Terror. Baker swung savagely at the third strike, which was one of Matty's slow ones. Then McInnis lined to Burns for the third out.

Plank faced the same situation in the third inning. After McLean flied to Barry, Snodgrass singled and went to third on Mathewson's solid single to left center, Christy taking second on the throw in. Herzog forced Witte running for the lame Snodgrass at the plate. Captain Doyle faced Plank and it looked as if he, with three balls called, would walk. Plank cut the corners of the plate for two strikes, then on the next one Doyle hit an easy fly to Oldring, retiring the side.

Wonderful fielding plays abounded and more than once the splendid work of his fielders saved "Big Six" from a score.

Base stealing, as in previous contests between the Athletics and the Giants, played no part in the game. Not an Athletic player attempted to steal, and Shafer, the only National leaguer who tried to purloin a base, was thrown out by Lapp, who has always been a terror to New York.

The total attendance was 20,563, and receipts $48,640.

WILSON REBUKES EDITOR

Denies Saying Any One Not Supporting Him Was a Rebel.

Washington, Oct. 9.—For the first time in the history of the United States a newspaper editor was officially rebuked by the president.

Mr. Wilson sent the following communication to the editor of the Washington Post:

"Sir—I am quoted in your issue of Wednesday as saying that any one who does not support me is no Democrat but a rebel. Of course, I never said any such thing. It is contrary both to my thoughts and to my character, and I must ask that you give a very prominent place to this denial. Very truly yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

BACK BROKEN. SPURNED AID

Dying Miner Wouldn't Be Treated Till Children Came.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 9.—As Thomas Pointon, a miner in the No. 8 colliery at Avoca, lay with a broken back in the chamber where he was caught by a fall of coal, he refused to permit aid men to give him any help until his daughters, Elizabeth, eleven years old, and Catherine, fourteen years old, were brought to his side.

The girls were lowered into the mine and hurried to their father. Pointon, who knew his back was broken, refused to go to a hospital and was taken home, his daughters accompanying him. He was told he could live only a short time.

WARFIELD DEATH DUE TO POISON

Jury Finds Maryland Girl Died From Effects of Drug.

Sykesville, Md., Oct. 9.—The coroner's jury, which met here to investigate the death of Miss Ella L. Warfield, a cousin of ex-Governor Warfield, of Maryland, rendered the following verdict:

"Miss Warfield came to her death from poison, supposedly cyanide of potassium, administered by her own hands."

After having been buried for at least a month, the body of Miss Warfield was exhumed and the viscera given over to a chemist to examine. The chemist testified that he found no trace of cyanide poisoning in the viscera, but added that the strong embalming fluid would have counteracted the poison.

Dr. Daniel B. Sprecher, mayor of Sykesville, admitted that he gave a certificate showing that Miss Warfield had died of acute indigestion, knowing or suspecting strongly that the woman had died from poison. He said that his action had come after the decision of Coroner Millar, a cousin of the dead woman, that an inquest was unnecessary. Dr. Sprecher's testimony was dramatic throughout. He said:

"I told Mrs. Ward, the sister, that I could not give a certificate until a coroner had seen the body. Mrs. Ward insisted that an inquest was unnecessary, but I called Coroner Millar and he came to the Warfield home. When Coroner Millar arrived Mrs. Ward embraced and kissed him and they held a private conversation. I did not hear what was said. Then I took Mr. Millar to the room in which the body lay and told him what I had discovered. He then decided that Miss Warfield had died of natural causes and said that an inquest was unnecessary. I said all right, you are the law."

BLEASE ON HIS STATE'S NEEDS

Good Horse Racing and Honest Poker Among His Ideals.

Washington, Oct. 8.—"I want plenty of good horse racing, chicken fighting and honest poker playing in my state," said Governor Cole L. Blease, of South Carolina, here on his way back home after a business trip to New York.

When asked if he was going to pay his respects to President Wilson in Washington, the governor said: "Since he appointed Gonzales as minister to Cuba I've lost faith in him."

WILSON ABOLISHES THE ROLLER TOWEL.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The roller towel, which has been a feature many years in government buildings, was abolished by President Wilson "in the interests of public health." Hundreds of thousands of individual towels will replace the rollers.

LAND OF MIRAGESPERSONAL NOTES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Death Valley and Its Treacherous Lures of Beauty.

WORK OF A GOOD SAMARITAN.

Beck, the Prospector, Who Has Made the Desert Bloom With Guideposts Pointing the Way to Water and Saved Many Men From Death.

In the American Magazine is an article about Lew Westcott Beck, who is known as the "good Samaritan of Death valley." He and his dog, Rufus, have saved many prospectors from a horrible death by making the desert blossom with guideposts showing the way to water. The following is an extract from the article:

"Time was when Beck was a plain prospector in the Cripple Creek country. He was in on the diggings at Leadville, and he panned around in Montana awhile. Likewise he rushed into the Big Horn at the time of the mineral strike there, but he never struck a lead that made him rich. "Eventually he drifted down through Nevada and into Death valley, chasing rainbows. Wild rumors about 'Death Valley' Scotty's big find in that section electrified the country, and scores of prospectors rushed into the desert, expecting to make their fortune in a few days. Beck was 'among those present.'"

"There were several in Beck's party. They hiked many miles through the mirage land, finding nothing worth while and worrying constantly lest they exhaust their supply of water. For two days they sought water holes, and when out of water they went for hours with tongues swollen and lips parched from want of moisture. Then when death seemed inevitable they suddenly discovered a tiny stream trickling out of a canyon at the base of the Panamint mountains.

"When Beck returned to civilization he was a changed man. He had seen sands that were strewn with skulls, and that sight had put a big idea into his head. "Came spring, and Beck made another trip through Death valley. At his side was a Newfoundland dog. The prospector carried a bundle of tin strips. They were signboards to guide the wanderers' steps aright. "Each summer since then the prospector and his dog have made a journey to the land of the purple mist, piling up rocks and attaching signs to them, searching for lost travelers and incidentally keeping a lookout for a piece of precious metal. Once or twice Rufus has led his master to prospectors who, after long suffering from thirst, had fallen upon the burning sands to die.

"In signboarding the desert Beck has saved a number of thirst mad rainbow chasers and has also in remote districts stumbled upon the bleaching bones of dead men who may have found fortunes in the silver sulphuretted district, but who did not live to tell the world about it. At one time he assisted at the burial of four men who died of thirst within two miles of a spring.

"The country that Beck traverses is the most arid section of the American continent—a dreary stretch of hundreds of miles of desert, dotted here and there with foothills, buttes, dry creek beds, chaparral, prickly pear and sagebrush. Springs are miles upon miles apart. Most of them are bitterly alkali, and some are poison.

"On an ordinary summer afternoon the thermometer runs up to about 134 degrees in the shade out in Death valley, and the most unpleasant thing about it is that there is a dearth of shade. When man ventures out upon this trackless expanse the shimmering heat dazes him, the scarcity of water crazes him, and the mirage—treacherous, lying thing of beauty that it is—booms ever before him, flashing upon the canvas of his mind's eye a verdant valley, gorgeously green with growing things, fresh with flowers, wet with water and waiting to welcome him.

"He can see grassy hill slopes just ahead, and the mirrored lake appears to lie just beyond some beckoning meadow. He follows on and on and afterward drains the last drop from his canteen. Then his throat becomes parched, his tongue cleaves to the roof of his mouth, and strange things pass before his eyes. The buzzards begin to soar over him, and the coyotes sit upon their hunkers and watch him chase rainbows until he pitches forward upon his face and closes his eyes upon a world that is too mysterious and merciless for him to linger in longer."

Origin of Iron Duke.

The Iron Duke, of course, was Wellington, but he came by the nickname in a roundabout way. He was never so called until long after Waterloo. An iron steamship, a novelty at the time, was built in the Mersey and named the Duke of Wellington, and so the vessel came to be known as the Iron Duke, the transition being easy and obvious. It was the duke's union of resolution and physical energy which made the popular name for the Mersey built steamship to fit him like a perfect cap. Such, at least, is the explanation of his biographer, Sir Herbert Maxwell.—London Chronicle.

Power of Desire.

It has been said of Abraham Lincoln that as a boy he read less than a half dozen books and that they were such books as "Pilgrim's Progress," "Weems' 'Life of Washington' and a popular history of the United States written in almost primary language. Yet Lincoln was able to express himself more clearly than almost any public or literary man of his time. Such is the power of desire.

Getting a Verdict.

"We could have settled our difficulties by tossing a coin. Instead we spent a lot of money in going to law." "Well?" "I understand the jury settled the whole matter by tossing a coin."—Kansas City Journal.

GOV. SULZER RESTS HIS CASE

Prosecution Introduces Testimony in Rebuttal.

WIFE NOT CALLED TO STAND

Former Secretary Sarecky Admits He Destroyed Memoranda Connected With Campaign Contributions.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Louis A. Sarecky, formerly Governor Sulzer's campaign secretary, under cross-examination at the impeachment trial, told how he had destroyed practically all of the check books, check stubs and memoranda in connection with contributions to the governor's campaign fund that were in his possession.

He also admitted omitting the contributions of prominent brewers from the campaign statement which he said he had prepared, and which the governor swore to and filed with the secretary of state.

The defense rested without calling Governor Sulzer or his wife. Counsel for the board of managers then began to introduce testimony in rebuttal.

Sarecky was closely questioned about the details of his connection with the impeached executive and of his handling of the Sulzer campaign funds.

Sarecky testified previously that he imitated Sulzer's signature to a letter authorizing him to endorse and deposit checks in the Mutual Alliance Trust account, and did it with the intent to make the trust company people believe the candidate had written and signed the letter of authorization.

He also said he made out the statement of campaign receipts and expenses without consulting the governor-elect about what was to go in it, and that he knew it was not complete, as he did not have all the records; furthermore, that the governor-elect signed it and swore to it without reading it.

Counsel for the board of managers intimated that they might take some action against Sarecky for his technical forgery of the governor's name. But Sulzer never has objected to Sarecky signing checks on the account, and as he, if anybody, was the loser by Sarecky's transactions, friends of the former secretary make light of the veiled threat of counsel for the board. They declared that any action against Sarecky would have to originate with Sulzer.

"You asked the governor to give you a better position than the one you held as confidential stenographer to the governor?" "I told the governor I was losing money on $2500 a year; that I had two homes to keep up."

Sarecky declared he had no bank account in which he placed campaign contributions except that in the Mutual Alliance Trust company in New York.

"Did you have a check book to draw on that account during the campaign?" asked Stanchfield for the assembly managers. "I did," he answered.

"Where is that check book?" "I destroyed it."

"Did you destroy the check stubs?"

"Yes."

"What became of the cancelled checks?" "I threw the checks away, too."

"Did you also destroy whatever memorandum you may have had in connection with the amounts received and deposited and expended?" "Yes."

"What reason will you give us now for destroying all the evidence of the campaign contributions?" "The simple reason that I had no use for them," Sarecky answered.

"But didn't you know there were legal regulations safeguarding the receipt and expenditure of campaign contributions?" "In a general way I did."

When questioning turned to the omission in the campaign statement of contributions by certain brewers, Sarecky read in chronological order part of the list of contributors contained in the statement. With the exception of several contributions made by brewers and persons identified with the liquor interests the list compared exactly with the deposit slips made out by Sarecky and furnished the assembly managers by the Mutual Alliance Trust company.

"How do you account for the fact that this particular class of contribution is omitted?" questioned Stanchfield. "I suppose their omission was accidental," Sarecky replied. "When I made up that statement I thought I had all the memoranda of contributions before me, but probably several sheets had been mislaid or lost."

"And you will say you had no conference with Governor Sulzer concerning the propriety of omitting certain names?" "I do."

Questioned about the omission of Jacob F. Schiff's check for $2500, Sarecky said that he couldn't "think of a single reason why I omitted it."

"And this was by far the largest contribution that was received?" queried Stanchfield. "And you knew that Schiff would be classed in political circles as representing Wall Street and the interests?" "No; I regarded him more as a philanthropist," parried Sarecky.

Mr. Stanchfield then had the witness identify Governor Sulzer's signature upon various unreported campaign checks and letters acknowledging contributions.

3-BATTLESHIP PLAN TO GO BEFORE CABINET

Wilson May Make It an Administration Policy.

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Wilson will submit the administration three-battleship program to the entire cabinet next Tuesday.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels and others are urging him to make it an "administration policy," and unite the Democrats in its support before it goes into congress.

Already it has found much support in administration and congressional circles. A government armor plate factory is likely to be included.

Daniels conferred with Senator Tillman, chairman of the senate naval committee. Senator Tillman would not outline his own views further than to say that he believes the United States should build big ships, provided the docking facilities were adequate to care for them.

"Big Navy" men were jubilant over the prospect for three battleships.

Senatorial announcement that such a building program might have the support of the White House to put the United States back in the place it occupied among naval powers before the last congress reduced the program to one dreadnought, attracted wide attention in congress. A Democratic house of the last congress reduced the current appropriation to provide for one ship only on the grounds of economy.

REBELS MASSACRE FEDERALS

Mexican General, His Staff and 125 Soldiers Put to Death.

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 9.—Federal General Alvarez and his staff and 125 soldiers were put to death in Torreon, Mex., under orders of General Francisco Villa, of the Constitutional forces, according to information from reliable sources brought here.

With the city of Torreon, the rebels captured practically all of the federal's arms and artillery. The battle lasted four days, with heavy losses to both sides.

FIVE SUFFOCATED IN HOME

Father and Four Children Dead in Gas Filled Apartment.

New York, Oct. 9.—Solomon Schlusser and four of his children, Samuel, twelve years old; Bessie, seven years old; Goldie, aged six years, and Herman, three years old, were found dead in the Schlusser apartment, overgrown by gas.

The mother and a daughter were removed to a hospital in an unconscious condition.

Boy, Thirteen, Ends Life.

Vineyard, N. J., Oct. 9.—Orin Newmark, the thirteen-year-old son of Andrew Newmark, was found dead in a barn. He had rigged a shotgun with a cord and sent a bullet through his heart. Coroner Gray gave a verdict of suicide. The boy had a slight surgical operation on the throat a few days ago and is supposed to have become despondent.

Hill Kills Many Birds.

St. Louis, Oct. 9.—A heavy hail storm succeeded by a cloudburst and a high wind, broke over the western part of St. Louis, flooding the street's breaking windows and tearing down trees and signboards. The rain fell so rapidly that the sewers could not carry off the water. Forest park was strewn with birds killed by the hail.

Bandits Ready to Release Prisoners.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Chinese bandits who have been holding the foreign missionaries prisoners at Tsao yang, finding themselves surrounded by government soldiers, have consented to negotiate for the release of the captives, according to a cable message received at the state department from Peking.

Both Duelists Are Slain.

Athens, Ark., Oct. 9.—W. B. Burnett, of Athens, and Fred Storer, of Bonham, Texas, shot each other to death. Storer's eleven-year-old daughter looked on during the fight, and when her father called for more cartridges to reload his revolver the child carried them to him. The bodies of both men were riddled with bullets.

Wiggins' Mother Held.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Lillian McDermott and Mrs. George Golt, mother and sister of Homer C. Wiggins, were arraigned in the city court on a charge of receiving some of the money stolen by him. Each was held in $1000 bail for the general sessions court.

BANKERS RAP CURRENCY BILL

Only One in 3000 Opposes Proposed Test Against Measure.

SUGGEST MANY CHANGES

Country Bankers Were So Insistent In Opposition to Bill They Named Committee to Go to Washington.

Boston, Oct. 9.—With only one dissenting vote 3000 delegates attending the annual convention of the American Bankers' association went on record as opposed to the Owen-Glass currency bill as it now stands.

With but one delegate opposing, the convention, representing 14,000 members, consisting of banks, trust companies, state banks and bankers, heartily endorsed the work of its currency commission toward having the proposed currency bill modified.

The candidacy of William A. Law, first vice president of the First National bank, of Philadelphia, for first vice president of the association, is gaining rapid headway. During the past spring and summer the candidacy of Mr. Law was endorsed by state bankers' associations in various parts of the country, and since Monday the number of delegates who are pledged to his candidacy has been considerably increased.

The association urged upon congress the necessity of incorporating into the currency bill the amendments recommended at the Chicago conference of bankers held last August, all of which have been presented to the senate committee on banking and currency, which now has the bill in hand. The resolutions closed by commending the action of the president, the secretary of the treasury and congress for their efforts to give the country an elastic and sound currency, and pledged their hearty support towards the enactment of such legislation.

Men representing all political parties were present and took part in the deliberations and the fact that they voted as a unit shows plainly how bankers feel on this important question.

One was impressed with the spirit and earnestness which marked the proceedings. The meeting was virtually a country bankers' convention. They were much in evidence, and far exceeded in numbers the bankers from the so-called reserve cities, and the country bankers were insistent in their opposition to the provisions of the bill, in fact, so much so that they have delegated a committee to carry their objections to Washington. If there was any doubt before as to the attitude of the country bankers towards the bill that doubt has now been dispelled.

FIND GIRL'S HEAD AND ARM

Children Make Growsome Discovery in Kingston, N. Y.

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The upper portion of a head and an arm of a young woman was found in a canned goods box in a downtown lot by school children at play.

District Attorney Cunningham directed that an examination be made to determine if they are portions of the body of Anna Amuller, the woman who was slain by Hans Schmidt.

The facial features were missing. The scalp contained long, dark brown hair, with a woman's comb matted in it. The skull had been sawed across. The arm was intact only from the elbow joint down.

The box bore the name of a Kingston wholesale and retail grocery firm.

WED IN TAXI AT MIDNIGHT

Pittsburghers in Cumberland, Md., United as They Dash For Train.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 9.—While a taxicab was carrying Frederick R. McGinnis and Edna Barry, both of Pittsburgh, Pa., to the station to take a train home, shortly after midnight on Wednesday morning, Rev. D. G. Pile performed the ceremony that made them husband and wife.

They arrived late, but could not get a license until after midnight, and the marriage was performed in the taxicab to enable them to catch the next train home.

Eccentric Hermit Leaves $500,000.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 9.—John Bowman, aged sixty-two years, an eccentric bachelor, died at Stonington, Ill. Although possessing more than $500,000, Bowman lived a hermit's life for years. He had a hobby for collecting musical instruments and automobiles, and his house and garage were overloaded with them.

Both Duelists Are Slain.

Athens, Ark., Oct. 9.—W. B. Burnett, of Athens, and Fred Storer, of Bonham, Texas, shot each other to death. Storer's eleven-year-old daughter looked on during the fight, and when her father called for more cartridges to reload his revolver the child carried them to him. The bodies of both men were riddled with bullets.

Wiggins' Mother Held.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Lillian McDermott and Mrs. George Golt, mother and sister of Homer C. Wiggins, were arraigned in the city court on a charge of receiving some of the money stolen by him. Each was held in $1000 bail for the general sessions court.

ADMINISTRATORS SALE

Administrator's sale of valuable real estate and personal property, on Friday, the 24th day of October, 1913, the undersigned, administrator of Harry J. Carbaugh, late of Freedom Township, Adams County, Pa. deceased, by virtue of the authority of an order of sale granted to him by the Orphans' Court of Adams County, will offer at public sale, the hereinafter described premises, situate in Freedom Township, Adams County, Pa., adjoining lands of George Reeve, George W. Jacobs, Eliza Boyd's heirs, Samuel Buhrman, Luther Reeve, Samuel W. Stoops and Walter Spangler, containing one hundred and thirty-three acres, more or less, improved with a two-story frame dwelling house, large bank barn, wagon shed, implement shed, large corn crib, and other buildings. This farm, known as the John B. Weikert farm, is in good state of cultivation, with good fencing, supply of running water at the barn and an excellent well and cistern at the house, and is situate convenient to schools and churches. There are ten or twelve acres of good saw mill timber on the tract.

At the same date and place the undersigned will offer at public sale the following personal property: One bay mare, six years old, straight and all right, one bay horse, one pair of good mules, one extra good colt, five months old, one Kentucky grain drill used one season, one Osborne hay tedder, one horse rake, one sulky corn plow, set of shifting ladders, thirty-two foot long, good Studebaker wagon and bed, with two and one-half inch tread, set of breechings, three sets of front gears, set of single harness, collars, bridles, halters, Victor chopping mill, one Syracuse long plow, Hillside plow, Osborne spring harrow, Deering mower, American cream separator, complete set of carpenter tools and chest, vice, lot of blacksmith tools, two harrows, hay fork, rope and car pulleys, twenty-six sawed posts, thirty-two wire fence posts, lot of lumber, lot of one and a half inch plank, lot of fence boards, two shovel plows, block and tackle, hay ladder, twenty feet long, single, double and triple trees, log, breast and cow chains, enterprise sausage grinder and stuffer, cross cut saw, axes, maul, wedges, large lawn mower, forks, rakes, maddock, crow-bar, potatoes by the bushel; also fifteen acres of good corn in shock, and other articles too numerous to mention. All the machinery is practically new having been used but a short time. Some chickens, one scap of bees, glass jars, two lard cans, crocks, large jars, hand sprayer, five gallon oil tank.

3 good cows, one fresh by time of sale, one in December and one in January. The sale will begin at 10 o'clock, A. M., at which time the real estate will be offered, and the terms and conditions will be made known by

J. LUTHER SCOTT, Administrator.

Also at the same time and place there will be sold one good cow, one heifer will be fresh the last of October, two yearling bulls, two yearling heifers, two calves 2 months old, sixteen head of fine sheep, fifteen ewes and one buck, seven fat hogs, two fine brood sows with pigs four weeks old, also some household goods, eight gallon swing churn, chairs, thirty yards of ingrain carpet, washig machine, cook pots.

MARGARET R. CARBAUGH.

The Gettysburg Times

Do not object to their neighbors and friends hunting on their land or to any others who have due regard for their property, but all farmers do object to the hunter who tramples down grain, tears down fences and does damage. The surest way to protect yourself is to placard your property. Cardboard trespass signs 5 cents each, 6 for 25c; muslin signs 10c each, 3 for 25c. And in order to keep undesirable hunters from coming out to your land and possibly disregard such signs, the best thing you could do would be to place your name in our trespass list. Fifty cents for the entire season.

Mule Colts

40 Head of Mule Colts

TO BE SOLD AT THE STOCK YARDS at HANOVER, PA.

AT PUBLIC SALE ON FRIDAY OCTOBER 10th, '13 AT ONE O'CLOCK

These Mules are just the kind the farmers ought to buy, and are all 1, 2 and 3 years old, mostly 2 years old. Lots of size, but a little thin in flesh on account of the drought in Missouri.

They will grow like weeds in our good pasture.

NOW MR. FARMER do not miss seeing this lot of Mules, as they are the kind you can turn to your straw stack in winter, and will make you money while you sleep.

NOW MR. DEALER we want you all there, for we are going to sell every one of these Mules, and we know you can buy them for less money than you can buy them anywhere else on this earth.

Take strict notice we guarantee the age of every mule and if they are not just the age we say there is no sale.

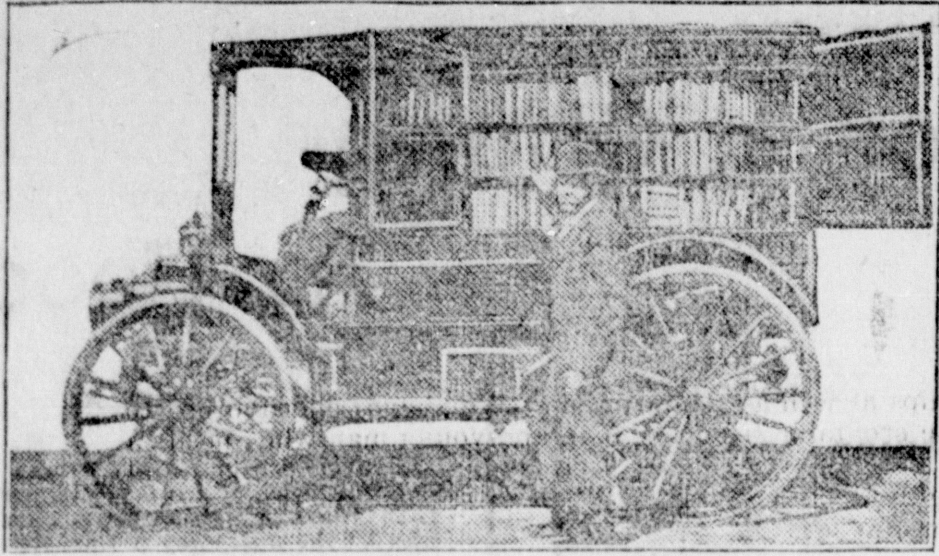

ONE, TWO AND THREE YEARS OLD

Don't forget the day, Friday, October 10, 1913, at 1 o'clock, at Hanover, Penn'a.

Write it on a piece of paper and pin it on your hat band and tell your neighbor that you are going to the big Mule Sale at Hanover, Pa., Friday next, at the Stock Yards, at 1 o'clock, when a long credit will be given by

UNIQUE LIBRARY ON WHEELS

DELIVERED AT DOOR WITH THREE CYLINDERS

Residents of Maryland County
Do Not Have to Travel to City for Literature.

BROUGHT TO THEM BY AUTO

Lady Librarian the Originator of Novel Scheme Which Proves Anew
the Adaptability of the Machine to the Requirements of the Present Day.

Delivering books from door to door to dwellers in farm houses and mountain cabins is the unique use made of an automobile by the Washington county free library of Hagerstown, Md. The vehicle is said to be the only one in the United States constructed especially as a bookcase on wheels.

Previously a horse-drawn vehicle had been used by this library for the same purpose, but on this suffering demolition as the result of an unfortunate contact with a railroad train at a level crossing, it occurred to the up-to-date mind of the lady librarian, Miss Titcomb, who is the originator of this form of book delivery, that a more satisfactory substitute would be found in the automobile.

The traveling bookcase shown in the accompanying illustration is the result; and this novel vehicle has traversed, since its first trip in March, 1912, 6,000 miles of roads in the surrounding districts of Washington, and has left at homes almost 4,000 books.

Car Packed for Delivery.
The duties fulfilled by this useful accessory to the distribution system of the library also includes the delivery of boxes of books to various branch libraries throughout the county, not conveniently reached by railroad or trolley, to public schools and to Sunday schools.

As an indication of the utility of this new method of book delivery it is interesting to note that the librarian states that ever since its introduction there has been a constant demand for books of a practical nature, and everywhere the farmers are looking to the library for the best and latest works dealing with methods of truck gardening, fruit growing and with agriculture in all its phases.

A trained librarian always accompanies the chauffeur to help readers make their choice from the volumes thus brought to the front door.

Hagerstown, the headquarters of this novel work of education and entertainment made possible by the traveling bookcase, is the heart of a region noted for its historic interest and picturesque environment; one frequented by touring automobilists from all parts of the country. Nearby the Potomac river flows past famous spots, including the quaint old town of Harper's Ferry, where occurred the John Brown Insurrection. Nearby, also, the battlefield of Antietam stretches out around the village of Sharpsburg. Little changed in appearance in 50 years, except by the erection of many fine monuments and the construction of an excellent system of government roads. Gettysburg is but a short run to the tourists, following the trail where armies passed in the fateful year of 1863. The oldest monument to George Washington, a pile of native limestone, surmounts one crest of the ridge of South Mountain, and the War Correspondents' Arch, built by George Alfred Townsend with the co-operation of Sir Henry Stanley and many others who described battles, is not far away. In the background the blue mountains provide an enchanting view.

The progressiveness of this little Maryland city is further shown by the fact that its fire department equipment includes two modern pieces of automobile fire apparatus costing nearly $10,000 each.

The number of privately owned automobiles in proportion to the population is much above the average. It is estimated that there are no less than 350 cars to a population of 25,000.—The Automobile.

Minister Uses Motorcycle.

Rev. William M. Stanley finds the motorcycle a very valuable asset. Rev. Stanley has charge of the Auburn circuit in the Methodist church of Kansas, and he makes all his appointments on his motorcycle, riding as high as 7,000 miles in a year. Mr. Stanley has spent 21 years in the frontier mission field in Kansas and nothing has been of more material aid to him in his work than the single track.

"BOB" BURMAN DROVE CAR AT SIXTY MILES AN HOUR.

Second Remarkable Feat of Resourceful Driver Has Excited Admiration of Automobilists.

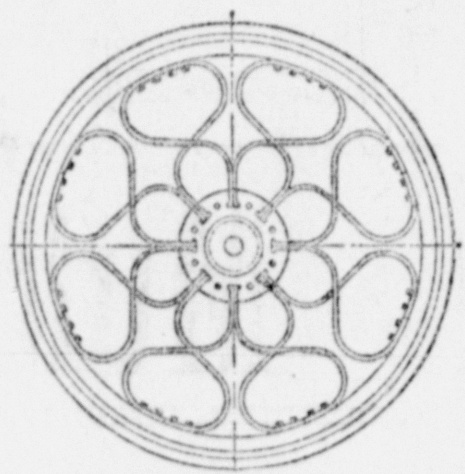

"Bob" Burman's most remarkable and unheard of performance in the 200-mile road race at Tacoma on Saturday, July 5, is the talk of motordom and he will be the theme of conversation for some time to come. Burman ditched his car in a brush with his most dangerous rival, Teddy Tetzlaff, and the accident resulted in putting one cylinder out of commission. Burman was not discouraged, but immediately detached the wires to the spark plugs on the broken cylinder, placing it out of commission, and with but three cylinders working continued the race for seventy-two miles at faster than sixty miles an hour and ran second.

As far as is known no such feat has ever been witnessed in any other road race. Burman made lap after lap of the 3½-mile course in better than three minutes after his accident and Tetzlaff was forced out of the race in the same lap in which Burman took the ditch.

Burman finished triumphantly in second position after a battle with Earl Cooper. In his training work, Burman fairly burned up the course, and at the time of the accident with Tetzlaff had the race well in hand.

It will be recalled that in the Indianapolis 500-mile race Burman, after his gasoline tank had been punctured by a flying valve from an exploded tire, caught fire through the escape of the air from his tank and that after the carburetor had been replaced and the hole in the tank plugged with a stick and chewing gum, the Speed King ran rings around the field for miles and was still going at top speed when the race was called off through necessity, the people having run on the track.

"SPRING MATIC" WHEEL

A Missouri manufacturer has introduced the "Spring matic" wheel for both commercial truck and pleasure cars. The wheel is made up of a series of curved springs of vandum steel which occupy the position filled by spokes in wheels of the usual type. For very heavy use a leaf is added.—Motor.

To Clean Crankcase.

When draining the oil from a crankcase, before cleaning it out with kerosene and refilling with new oil, it is well to remember that oil flows most rapidly when warm. Consequently the draining operation should be performed just after the car has come in from a run and the heat has thinned the oil out. In this case it is a good plan to open the drain cocks on putting the car away for the night and leave them open until morning. In order to give plenty of time for all the oil that has become spattered over the inside of the motor to run down the sides and out the cocks. Thorough draining in this fashion may also be helped if the motor and radiator are covered with a blanket, in order to keep the heat in as long as possible.

Motor Car Easy to Drive.

"Driving a motor car is much easier than the man who has never owned a car thinks," declares an expert driver. "Many imagine that there is something mysterious about driving a car, until they really try. Just think how very simple it is to control the average car. On my car I have the electric starter, electric lights—everything is operated by the driver, from his seat. He never has to leave the car."

If more people knew how very easy it is to operate a motor car, there would be a great many more motorists today.

A Double Exchange

By REGINALD D. HAVEN

One day after I had taken a luncheon in a restaurant the waiter handed me my overcoat. I put it on and left the place. While walking along I put my hand in a side pocket of the overcoat and grasped a letter. Not being aware of having anything in that pocket, I pulled it out and looked at the superscription. To my surprise, the letter was not addressed to me at all. It was postmarked the city where I then was and where I lived and was written in a feminine hand. I put it back where I found it, returned to the restaurant and told the proprietor that I had changed coats with some one. He said that whoever had taken my coat had not yet discovered his error, or at least had not returned it. I gave him my address and went away, resolved to keep the coat I had until I got my own.

The same evening after dinner I read the note I had come upon, with a view to finding some clue to the fellow who had taken my coat. What was my surprise to find a promise from a girl who signed herself "Anne" to meet the man to whom the letter was addressed on a certain corner at a certain hour that very evening and to marry him.

This was the only clue I found. If I wanted my coat back I could go to the place of rendezvous and demand it. I thought it would be rather hard on a man who was about to be married to call on him to rectify such a mistake. Such a commonplace proceeding would spoil a romance. Nevertheless I concluded to go for this reason: Probably the man, having discovered that the letter had passed into other hands, would call off the elopement, but would go to the place of rendezvous, presuming that I had read the note and would go there myself to find him and get back my coat.

The meeting was to be at 11 o'clock. The place was a crossing of two streets on which were only dwelling houses and at no time much frequented. At 11 o'clock at night only some late home goer would pass it. I went there at a quarter to 11, or, rather, I walked up one of the cross streets, around the block and passed the corner by another. I kept this up until exactly at 11 I passed a lady, noticing that she was veiled. I walked on, turned and took position behind a tree box.

The lady was doing the same thing I had been doing, and she kept it up till nearly half past 11. Then I saw her go to a street lamp, look at her watch, hesitate, and by the way she started off I knew she had made up her mind to give up whatever she was there for.

I hurried up to her and said, "Pardon me, but you may be looking for some one who having lost a note mentioning the time and place of the meeting has been unable to keep the appointment." Then I told her the reason for my being there. To prove my story I handed her the note she had written. She was very much agitated. As soon as she had convinced herself that I had given her what I pretended to give she tore it into bits. She didn't seem to be thinking of me or the story I had told. Her mind was evidently on the man she was to have met and not very pleasantly on him.

"He doubtless lost your note," I remarked, "before having fixed in his memory the time of it."

"Nonsense!" she exclaimed, stamping her foot. "He has failed me—intentionally failed me."

"May I see you to your home?" I asked.

"No—yes."

"My second thought," I said, "is always more valuable, and, presuming that yours is the same, I shall accept your second mandate. I shall see you home; but, though I am a stranger to you, I trust you will not believe I am going for the purpose of learning where you live. If you prefer it I will leave you before."

"Come as far as you like," she snapped. "You can't do me any harm."

She lived not far away, and we were but a few minutes reaching her home. Instead of stealing in, she put a latch-key in the door and opened it.

"I don't like," she said at parting, "that even a stranger should leave me without an explanation of this affair, but it is too long a story to be told here. Come to see me tomorrow evening and I will give you such information as I trust may indicate that I am not such a fool as would appear from what you have seen of me."

I accepted the invitation and listened to her story, which she was two hours in telling. I have not room for it here, and I don't care to dwell on it. I can only say that notwithstanding the hope she had expressed in giving me the invitation she had not been especially wise in trusting a man who, from certain of his doings that she told me, would lead any man not a fool to set him down as a cad. But men are fooled by women who could not fool their own sex, and women are fooled by men whom a man would see through at once.

The reason I don't care to dwell on the lady's story is that there is another story which more directly concerns me. It, too, is lengthy, though it may be all told in a few words—viz, the lady is my wife.

I never got my overcoat, and I never wanted it, for I would not wear it after it had been worn by the other party. The one I took in exchange for it I sent to a hospital for criminals.

Steel Lined SHOT SHELLS

Cut down your lead—Get your bird with the center of the lead

In the making of shotshells, the greatest forward step since the invention of smokeless powder is the steel lining to grip the powder and concentrate all the drive of the explosion back of the shot.

It's a Remington special invention—that steel lining. You find it in Remington-UMC Arms and Nitro Clubs. These steel lined shells get their shot to the target quicker than any other shells known to the shooting fraternity. They cut down the guess-work about lead and angles. They put the center of the lead right on your bird.

The steel lining is moisture-proof—no dampness can get through, no powder can get out. Waste-proof—no energy is lost. Shoot Remington-UMC Arms and Nitro Clubs. Steel Lined Eastern Factory Loaded Shells for Speed Plus Pattern in any make of shotgun.

A rather interesting case was decided a couple of weeks ago at Greenwood, Mo. Involving the right of a telephone company to set poles in front of a farmer's residence, the doing of which seriously injured some fruit trees which stood on the edge of the highway just outside the farmer's fence. When the judge heard the ground for the farmer's complaint he ruled that the trees belonged, as did the road, to the county and were not the property of the man near whose place they were growing. On this basis any taxpayer had just as much right to gather the fruit as the supposed owner.

TWO rooms with conveniences for light housekeeping for rent. 32 East Middle street.—advertisement

The well known Washington House, opposite the Western Maryland Railroad Station, has been leased by John D. Kane, who as proprietor will in the future, to the best of his ability, endeavor to see that all patrons of this established hostelry are served with the best eatables, of the substantial and solid kind, as also with the best of liquors, both spirit and malt furnished anywhere.

The fact that Mr. Kane has a large acquaintance throughout the county should be sufficient assurance that he will take good care of such of his friends and patrons as visit him.

In One Minute! Clogged Nostrils Open-- Colds And Catarrh Vanish

Stops Nasty Discharge, Clears Stuffed Head, Heals Inflamed Air Passages and You Breathe Freely.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."
Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils;

penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

OH BUT BEGY'S MUSTARINE IS

SIMPLY FINE FOR BACKACHE

Earache, Headache, Toothache and Neuralgia also Banished in a Few Minutes—It Penetrates.

Just rub BEGY'S MUSTARINE on that sore, aching, almost breaking back. Don't be afraid to rub it on—it won't blister. But in five minutes you'll wonder where your backache has gone.
You'll wonder why you never thought of BEGY'S MUSTARINE before.

Get a 25 cent box to-day. It overcomes and entirely banishes so many ailments that no home can afford to be without it.

Over night you can conquer Chest
Colds, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Lumbago, Rheumatic Pains, Neuritis and in the same time you can remove all agony from your Sore Feet, Bunions and Callouses.

Better and speedier than any liniment, poultice or hot water bottle. All druggists guarantee it. Be sure it's BEGY'S. It penetrates.

MUSTARINE is for sale and recommended in Gettysburg at all druggists.
